

The Elements Of Great Acting

WITH JOHN OSBORNE HUGHES (UK)

The Spiritual Psychology of Acting is a systematic body of organic, practical knowledge, comprising of Ten Elements.

The knowledge and skill set relating to each of the Elements is assimilated through an understanding of psychological theory, combined with specially developed practical technique exercises.

We will look at each of the elements in detail.

We will teach you the practical means of perfecting each one of them.

The 10 Elements of Acting:

- 1) Awareness
- 2) Attention
- 3) Purposes
- 4) Causal Thinking
- 5) Vibration
- 6) Free Body
- 7) Imagination
- 8) Creating Affinities and Complexes
- 9) Events and Inspiration
- 10) Psychological Actions

John Osborne Hughes

John began his acting education with the Hampshire County Specialist Speech and Drama Course, then studied at the Academy of Live and Recorded Arts in London and in theater directing with Sam Kogan and the Moscow Institute of Theater Arts.

After graduating, he worked as an actor and theater director, e.g. in "Cat's Paw" and Mike Leigh's "Ecstasy".
